Vegan Uganda Gorillas is an all-vegan, carbon-offset adventure in the heart of Africa! Using vibrant and bustling Kigali, Rwanda as our home base, we'll visit the newly-built Ellen Campus of the Dian Fossey Institute, travel across the nearby Ugandan border to visit a native community, trek through rugged terrain to find and spend a precious hour with a mountain gorilla family, go on evening and morning game drives to spot lions and gazelles, take a riverboat cruise amidst crocodiles and hippos, and finally track chimpanzees in their natural habitat before returning to Kigali for our flights home.

GUIDE COMPANY: Africa Tours Adventure

Of the several guide company reps I contacted, Nicholas at Africa Tours Adventure offered the best package by far. In fact, his prices were hundreds of dollars cheaper than the nearest competitor (some quoted nearly twice as much). Of course, price isn't the only criteria, as I seek reputable companies that pay their staff well and provide clean, comfortable (although not luxury) accommodations. So it was reassuring to learn that besides being an indigenous company based in Kampala, Uganda, Africa Tours Adventure was highly rated with exceptionally outstanding reviews on TripAdvisor.

* Uganda June 10, 2022: Must show proof of full vaccination. <https://ug.usembassy.gov/covid-19-information-page>

* Uganda April 25, 2022: Vaccination certificate required. <https://www.who.int/emergencies/disease-outbreak-news/item/2022>

Check with your health care provider. As a Kaiser member, 6 weeks prior to any international trip, I contact their Travel department, which checks the latest CDC data to see which vaccinations are recommended even if not required by the countries I'm visiting.

MEDICAL MASKS / ILLNESS

Tourists pose risks for disease transmission: www.sciencedaily.com/releases/2020/02/200213175912.htm. And with covid, the risks have multiplied. Each teammate will bring and wear medical face masks when required or appropriate and in the presence of gorillas to prevent the spread of respiratory infections, to which our close cousins are very susceptible.

- If a park ranger determines someone is actually sick, they won't be allowed to go on the trek but may qualify for a partial refund of the gorilla permit. Technically, we're supposed to stay 21 feet (7 meters) away, but baby gorillas have been known to crawl up into people's laps in search of food or water or out of curiosity, which would make me worry about the daddy Silverback, who can be 9 times stronger than the average man! But apparently, habituated adult gorillas are tolerant of close contact if one makes no moves towards the baby.

WHY UGANDA GORILLAS FROM RWANDA?

Mountain gorillas can be visited in three countries with widely varying permit costs: Congo ($400), Uganda ($700), and Rwanda ($1500). The Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) permit is cheapest, but rebel groups roam the countryside. Rwanda gorillas are the easiest to get to, but the permit cost is steep. So, Uganda seemed like the safest middle ground. Transit-wise, it's about an 8-hour drive from Kampala, Uganda to the gorillas in Bwindi Impenetrable National Park. But it's only about a 4-hour drive from Kigali, Rwanda, so I chose Kigali as our home base.

EAST AFRICA TOURIST VISA

An online Visa Application is required before travel. Since we'll be going from Rwanda to Uganda and back to Rwanda, the best option is to purchase the East Africa Tourist Visa, a multiple-entry visa that covers Rwanda, Uganda, and Kenya. You'll need to attach file copies of your passport bio-data page (with at least 6 months validity), a recent passport-size photo, a Yellow Fever vaccination certificate, your return ticket, and your travel itinerary. The cost is currently USD $100.

www.immigration.go.ug/services/east-african-tourist-visa

GORILLA PERMITS

A standard $700 Ugandan gorilla permit (included in our fees) entitles us to hike all day if needed, but we're limited to just 1 hour with the gorillas, and each gorilla family is limited to one visiting group per day. Max human group size is limited, so we'll be split into 2 trekking groups of 9 each. Trackers with radios will find human-habituated gorilla families early in the morning then guide us to them as they move about, so the likelihood of an encounter is good. We will visit the Ruhija sector, whose gorilla families include Mukiza, Oruzogo, Bitukura and Kyaguliro. In Nicholas' 14 years in the business, not once have his groups failed to encounter gorillas. But if we don't, it may be possible to get a partial rebate of the permit fee or be allowed to try again the next day. www.ugandagorillassafari.com/useful-info/book-a-gorilla-permit

GORILLA CONSERVATION

Well-meaning observers may question the ethics of groups of humans, especially vegans, "disturbing" animals in their natural habitat. I'm sensitive to this criticism but would counter that mountain gorillas might be extinct were it not for the inflow of eco-tourism funds that protect them from habitat destruction, encroachment, and poaching. In fact, although still endangered, the gorilla population is growing: www.worldatlas.com/articles/is-the-mountain-gorilla-population-actually-growing.html

TIPS

Please bring two $20 (USD) bills for driver-guide and gorilla ranger tips.

Tippling is not mandatory, especially if service is poor, but with Africa Tour Adventures' sterling reputation, I have no doubt we'll be extremely pleased with their performance. Nicholas recommends $20/day per driver-guide and $20 per teammate for gorilla rangers. We'll be traveling in three vehicles (6 teammates each) & gorilla trekking in two groups (9 teammates each).

* Driver-Guide: $20/day x 6 days = $120 per driver-guide. $120 / 6 = $20 per teammate.

* Gorilla Ranger: $20 per teammate x 9 teammates = $180 per ranger.

- If you're especially pleased with your guide and ranger, you are welcome to give more. You might also consider tips for our airport-hotel drivers as well as hotel & lodge staff who will be providing us with vegan accommodations and meals.

FLIGHT/TRIP INSURANCE

For flights, I generally purchase the insurance option offered by the travel website or airline. For everything else, I purchase trip insurance, especially for medical evacuation, which can cost tens of thousands of dollars. Depending on the terms, trip insurance typically covers all non-reimbursed expenses incurred for a covered reason. For some insurance companies, you must apply soon after booking a trip to avoid denial of coverage, as they fear you'll try to apply for coverage only after getting sick, etc. That doesn't seem to be an issue with World Nomads "Standard" Plan, which will cover Rwanda/Uganda for persons under 70 years-old for less than $100: www.worldnomads.com. For "Silver Nomads" 70 or over, they now offer www.worldnomads.com/usa/travel-insurance/silver-nomads in a partnership with TripAssure for about 10% of your total declared trip cost (which you could limit to your nonflight expenses providing you purchased flight insurance separately). Another option is AIG Travel Guard www.travelguard.com, which offers 3 tiers of insurance and factors in your age.

CARBON OFFSET

Plant-based diets have dramatically-lower carbon footprints than animal-based diets, but teammates will also offset their travel emissions via www.cooleffect.org/content/travel-offset. A round-trip international flight lasting 13 or more hours can be offset with a contribution of about USD $60, although teammates are encouraged to submit more to cover safari transportation as well as fund several worthy projects like tree plantings, grassland & forest preservation, wind turbines, economical cookstoves, or a bird sanctuary. Over 90% of every dollar goes directly to the projects.

FUNDRAISER FOR DIAN FOSSEY GORILLA FUND

This is the largest and longest-running organization fully dedicated to gorilla conservation, and we'll have the privilege of taking a VIP behind-the-scenes tour of its newly-built Ellen Campus in appreciation for a minimum $800 group donation, which has already been donated.

Click on Donate to go to the Vegan Uganda Gorillas portal and please be generous. This tour is costing us about $200/day compared to luxury tours that can cost $1000/day. Afterwards, consider clicking on Adopt to adopt a gorilla for yourself or a loved one, especially a child who would delight in following the life of their adoptee.

For those who haven't seen Gorillas in the Mist (1988 movie starring Sigourney Weaver), Dian Fossey devoted her life to studying gorillas. Tragically, she was murdered at age 53, most likely by poachers who resented her interference.

PUBLICITY

To promote veganism, I may seek publicity for this all-vegan expedition. Teammates names and volunteered comments may appear in news releases I send to various publications.

TEAM TABLE

To promote camaraderie and to be able to recognize one another when we meet in Kigali, each team member's headshot photo, city, state or country, age, and years of veganism (as of Feb 2023) will appear in a Team Table. A non-vegan spouse or companion who agrees to eat exclusively vegan and bring and wear only 100% animal-free gear will be listed as Pre-vegan.

VEG EATERIES

Per Happycow.net, there are a few vegetarian but no 100% vegan eateries in Kigali. Normally, I don't eat in nonvegan eateries, as I'm uncomfortable dining around others eating animal products, and I don't want to worry about inadvertently being served animal ingredients or cross-contamination. But if our group "took over" a vegetarian eatery and collectively gave them the "vegan 3rd degree" (is there milk/egg in that? etc.), I'm in! Hotel Chez Lando (which can provide vegan meals) is about a 10-minute walk away from Afia Organics, a vegetarian eatery.

V-CARDS

To ensure cruelty-free meals and food while traveling, I created V-Cards in over 100 languages. V-Cards are useful in non-vegan eateries as well as in grocery stores and shops. Simply hand a card to the waiter, chef, or store clerk so they'll know what you can and can't eat. Or use them yourself to screen packaged product ingredients. The Kinyarwanda V-Cards are for Rwanda, and the Swahili V-Cards are for Uganda. (Technically, Swahili is the people, Kiswahili is the language).

If you'd like your own set of V-Cards for this trip, visit www.maxlearning.net/HEALth/V-Cards and print the Kinyarwanda and Swahili pages then follow the instructions for cutting them into individual cards.
